

The Great Omission | Matthew 28:16–20

The Passion of the Christ

Pastor Woody Woodward concluded the Passion of the Christ series by focusing on the final words Jesus spoke before ascending into heaven. In this concluding message of the series, we reflected on Jesus' Great Commission—a call to make disciples of all nations. It is a reminder that our faith is not only personal but a mission to be lived out with urgency, obedience, and trust in His ongoing presence.

Summary

Standing on a mountain in Galilee, the risen Christ commissioned His followers to spread the gospel to the ends of the earth. Pastor Woody walked us through this pivotal moment, emphasizing that Jesus' authority, His command, and His promise of presence are the foundation for our mission today.

The Great Commission is not a suggestion—it is the ongoing mission of every believer and every church. Our faithfulness to Jesus is measured not simply by personal devotion but by how we engage in making, baptizing, and teaching disciples, relying on His promise to be with us always.

Key Takeaways

- Jesus' authority over heaven and earth is the basis for His Great Commission.
- Making disciples involves intentional relationship, baptism, and teaching obedience to all Jesus commanded.
- The Great Commission applies to all believers—not just pastors, missionaries, or church leaders.
- Jesus' promise to be "with us always" empowers us to face fear, discouragement, and opposition.
- Churches and individuals must guard against the "Great Omission"—neglecting the full call of Christ.

Discussing and Applying the Sermon

- What part of the Great Commission stands out to you most: Jesus' authority, His command, or His promise?
- Why do you think so many believers struggle to live out the call to make disciples?
- In what ways have you personally experienced Jesus' presence when stepping out in obedience?
- What practical steps can you take this week to live out the Great Commission in your own circle of influence?
- How can our church better equip and encourage one another to make disciples?

About The Passion of the Christ

This series explores the final hours of Jesus' life leading up to the resurrection. Each message focuses on a different moment in the Passion narrative, revealing the depth of Christ's love, the gravity of our sin, and the invitation to follow Him as Savior and King.
